

INVERTING THE CONJUNCTURAL AND PROLETARIAN POLICIES AND OVERTURNING THE CYCLES AND THE LEGACY OF POVERTY ACROSS THE CONTINENTAL AFRICA

THE STRUCTURAL LIBERATION AGENDA

FORMAL SOVEREIGN POLICY FRAMEWORK

A TRANSFORMATIVE 2080 JOURNEY FOR REWRITING AFRICA'S SOCIOECONOMIC LEGACY

UNCACED

I. STRATEGIC MISSION

To systemically disrupt the historical cycles of poverty, dependency, and economic marginalization in Africa by overturning conjunctural policies (temporary, reactive, and externally influenced) and proletarian burdens (chronic disenfranchisement of the working majority) through an ambitious, coordinated continental revolution grounded in strong inclusive governance, equity-driven economics, and long-term continental sovereignty.

II. UNDERSTANDING EVOLVING SYSTEMS AND THE LEGACY OF POVERTY IN AFRICA

2.1. Poor Conjunctural Policies

The cycle and legacy of poverty in Africa is a revolting outcome of policy systems and poor economic short-term solutions (sometimes) influenced by the historical Africa's failure to gather for rising visionary leaders who can boldly stand as true leaders of the people, alongside international politics and institutions, often neglecting grassroots contexts where African priorities and rights to economic welfare and sovereignty matter for nothing else.

For yet several centuries, in conscientious or unconscientious complicity, many African leaders and global foreign actors entertain and orchestrate together continuous cycles of chaos and poverty in Africa.

2.2. Proletarian Struggles

By both African and global foreign political and economic actors who are determinedly resolute to entertain policies and economies with working classes and generations of wage-dependence without capital access, without skill empowerment, nor industrial ownership.

The strong tools to maintain Africa in chaos and poverty are very worrying. Each one reveals a different layer of the problem. From international policies to African structural weaknesses to inherited poverty cycles, the overall diagnostic scope brings together conventional and unconventional systems, converging with common aims and goals including:

Sustaining Africa's entrapment in chronic instability and economic marginalization:

Entertaining long-term conditions that tap the continent in instability and exclusion from global prosperity.

Perpetuating structural disorder and generational poverty:

Institutional and systemic dysfunction that causes multi-generational poverty in across African societies.

Enforcing cycles of governance fragility and developmental deprivation:

Weak and corrupt governance systems that reinforce repeated failure in development

Orchestrating a continuum of disempowerment through systemic underdevelopment:

A deliberate or structured process of keeping African populations powerless through chronic underdevelopment.

Locking Africa into a vicious loop of turmoil and economic dispossession, maintaining a strategy of regional fragmentation and financial insecurity:

A closed cycle where conflict and economic loss feed each other in a self-reinforcing pattern

Maintaining a strategy of regional fragment and financial insecurity:

A strategic or geopolitical framework that divides African states and weakens economic sovereignty.

Institutionalizing disruption and economic injustice as a continental norm:

The normalization of instability & inequality as part of Africa's governance or economic systems.

Fueling, maintaining and waging ethical malfeasance, poor deficit governance and the collapse in the moral spirit of good stewardship and public accountability

The strategic declines & civic collapse, ethical malfeasance, the culture and deliberate politics to favor mismanagement (lack of transparency, embezzlement, erosion and misallocation of resources), violence and social exclusions, the deficit of accountability, and high privilegism and protectionism of weak, corrupt and perfidious elites and institutions, as well as the politics of eternal dependence (including in one hand, over-reliance on external aid or extractive rents) to encounter local innovations, and conditioning citizens to expect handouts rather than participating in wealth creation, are among others, the strong tools to entertain chaos and eternal poverty in Africa.

III. STRATEGIC PATHWAYS TO INVERT AND OVERTURNING THE CYCLES OF POVERTY.

To overturn poverty, we must overturn paradigms. Africa's 2080 revolution must not be driven as a correction of its past, but as the re-founding of its future. This will include but non-limited:

- Structural Redesign and Macroeconomic Reforms
- Human Capital Transformation, Intellectual Sovereignty & Mass Empowerment
- Democratized Cooperative Reindustrialization
- Continental Value Chains Repatriation
- Pan African Sovereign Financing Mechanisms
- Social Capital, Economic Equity, Wealth Redistribution and Community Return and Reinvestment Mechanisms
- Sovereignty-Driven Global Engagement and Non-Aligned 4.0 Cooperation
- Civic Transition, Sovereign Leadership and Pan African 5.0 Governance

Africa's 2080 revolution under UNCACED—a generational assignment. Without malice or revenge, our efforts to end poverty must affirm that the days of survival & proletarian systems are over and that the golden age of sustainable sovereign prosperity begins with modern inclusive shifts and democratized cooperative sovereign economies.

Addressing the structural, mental, and systemic roots of poverty through transformative equity and cooperative reindustrialization.

4.4. Policy Instruments and Pathways

4.4.1. Structural Redesign and Macro-Economic Reform

Harnessing imperative fiscal, monetary, financial and bank revolution, and deploying Massive Capital and Sovereign Financing's Universal Mechanisms beyond the Breton Woods Institutions. Accelerating bold policies and African untapped potential for fiscal regeneration, financial empowerment and monetary sovereignty

Ensuring the Decolonization of Debt Initiatives (DDIs), are properly accelerated and implemented in across the GECCA Landscapes and African Communities to support African intergovernmental efforts in restructuring debt contracts, renegotiating fair cooperation and investment terms, and promoting anti-exploitation systems in across UNCACED – AU Economies.

Advocating, engaging and revolutionizing Transformative Investment Concessions (TICs) for major continental anti-poverty portfolios.

Investing in Unified African Economic Cores (UAEC) which are Pan African Sovereign Economic Areas (PASEAs), federally operating under AfCFTA and UNCACED to support creating & promoting decentralized, inclusive innovation and production hubs owned by regional sovereign communities.

4.4.2. Accelerating substantial and exponential breakthrough investments in human capital transformation, intellectual sovereignty and mass empowerment

Propelling the Modern African Science and Knowledge Enterprise—and investing in the acceleration and pursuit of the Continental Curriculum for Pan African Renaissance, Transformative Science and Neo-Pioneering Education. Throughout UNCASTIIRE Challenge, UNCACED will spare no effort to ensure it efficiently harness the Golden Potential of the Next African School, and delivering on its co-founding promise: that of revolutionizing and advancing the continental education reform, driving scientific revolution, and achieving technical empowerment, with progressive sights centered on critical thinking, and on the spirit of innovation, feats, distinction and excellence. The Next African School Shifts must serve as the civic, scientific and intellectual backbone the 2080 Agenda, producing ethical visionary citizens, servant leaders of the people, strategic builders and innovators of the people, and sovereign custodians of Africa's future – ensuring the next school unify the continent through pan African shared values of modern enlightenment and excellence, and collective pursuit of common prosperity, full sovereign freedom, and global influence.

Empowering and deploying Modern Regional Institutes and Pan African Curricula under TVETI AFRICA to equip more youth and adults with an alternative technical and vocational education and training needed to compete for specific trades, crafts, careers and opportunities in diverse horizons and sectors of employment in across and beyond African continental spheres.

Unlocking, securing & speeding Marshall Investments in Pan African Skill Capitalism Policies to transition African Geniuses enduring the Exploitation of Wage Labor to Scientific Innovation, Intellectual Entrepreneurship and Cooperative Ownership (SCIIECO) Industries.

Thinking continuously and ensuring D-PIONEERS AFRICA (Diplomatic Brainstorming, Leadership and Neo-Pioneering Excellence Agency for Africa), and MFI (Millennial Frontiers Institute) are substantially powered to operate as groundbreaking and next-generation powerhouses for Africa's sovereign transformation. Accordingly, ensuring D-PIONEERS AFRICA and MFI empower, deploy a powerful sovereign generation of pan African intellectuals, scientists, scholars, academics, thinkers and culturalists, diplomats, peacebuilders, speakers, negotiators and parliamentarians, engineers, architects and builders, industrialists, entrepreneurs, economists, businessmen and investors, custodians, jurists, law professionals, constitutionalists & policy technocrats, as well as officials and young leaders—statesmen, ministers and governors, and binds them in a high-level unique ecosystem where they jointly shape Africa's future on its own terms and its own vision.

Mobilizing and providing Universal Innovation Capital Endowment (UICE) for youth and women, especially those who are TVETI Laureates, SCIIECO Industries' Promoters and D-PIONEERS AFRICA Scholarships Laureates, investing them as first key stakeholders in collective growth and continental, national and regional progress.

4.4.3. Democratized Cooperative Reindustrialization

Ensuring that the African Continental Sovereign Employment, Labor & Social Security Agency (ACSELA) monitors and valuably enforce the Continental Agreement for Fair Labor and Wages (CFLSA), the Universal Safety and Social Happiness Accord (USSHA), and other mechanism of same purpose, and deploy all-around energies to inspire a strong policy architecture of a neo-modern continental labor Industry whereby:

Corporations and the Continental Labor Marketplaces (CCLMs) are highly endowed and underpinned by fair cooperative co-ownership policies and systems, and whereby workers scale and therefore progressively become the first consumers and privileged co-shareholders.

The SMIG (Minimum Guaranteed Interprofessional Wage) is fairly and righteously redefined and redistributed, and the rights and conditions of access to sustainable decent jobs reconnected with USSHA Policies in across the UNCACED Communities.

Strong alterations and readjustments are performed in the ways that favor more beneficial strategic policies and investments for low classes and economically less wealthy areas, regenerating and scaling decent and paying employments opportunities for the most underserved and left behind people, and shifting African labor, jobs and social welfare policies towards Purple Policies and Creative Industries (PPCIs).

In every single African region, Community Industrial Cooperative Corporations, CICCs, State-supported, citizen-owned SMEs, are deployed and endowed, operating as local producer businesses owned by youth and women for local social economic growth and sustainable inclusive community transition.

National Cooperative Industries (NCIs) are established and structured as National Public Ownership Entities (NPOEs)—operating under strong Democratic Economic Aggregation Mechanisms (DEAMs), as a transformative economic model co-ruled and co-governed as Industrial Public-Private Partnership Hubs (IP³Hs) where both citizens, national government and strategic investors operate as co-equity stakeholders in the nationally critical industries, ensuring NCIs-NPOEs-IP³Hs serve as inclusive industrial platforms, where ownership is righteously and transparently distributed, and profits, innovation, and value creation are collectively governed, and equitably shared and reinvested.

Automate Out Exploitation (AOE) Policies are envisioned and transitioned to ethically replace exploitative labor workforce by Industrial Mechanization, leveraging technology to speed the time of delivery and impact, to rescale up solutions, and mitigating the weakening and early aging of workforce.

New continental industry of labor and social welfare becomes more transformative, more detonating and more provider, designed to overturn proletarian industrial policies, ensure decent, fair and sustainable employments, and empowered to revolutionize the safest and most promoting workplaces, making of the current employees, future emerging and competitive employers.

4.4.5. Social Capital, Economic Equity, Wealth Redistribution and Community Return and Reinvestment Mechanisms

Making UICE FUND accessible to all, and distributing every African at 18 with rights to equity bonds linked to continental wealth.

Ensure that, in addition to the CFLSA and USSHA Provisions, the Social Corporate Responsibility (SCR) is endorsed and applicable to every major industrial entity and economic investment deployed across the continent, and that it is transparently and effectively enforced by strong Community Equity Redistribution Mechanism (CERM) and Community Return and Reinvestment Mechanisms (CRRMs) to redistribute and extend sovereign rights and community resources to every African, and boosting reinvestments in basic societal services and infrastructure, such as health, education, water and energy, food, housing, safer environment, modern roads and infrastructure and socio-economic capital, as well as internet access are made publicly universal.

Ensuring the Pan African Land Equity, Regeneration and Redistribution Act (LERRA) is continentally enforced and implemented as a CERM mechanism for economic equity and sovereign empowerment. Ensuring the LERRA is envisioned as a transformative continental legislative instrument under the Pan African Economic Constitution, therefore seeking to rectify structural inequalities in land and resource ownership, while re-establishing sovereign control over key economic levers—placing the wealth of nations directly in the hands of their people.

Ensuring the Local Development Funds (UICE and CSTF) are imperatively linked to the goals of GDP Performance and GCH Improvement Per Capita.

4.4.6. Repatriating the Continental Value Chains

Ensuring the Continental Value Chain Repatriation Authority (CVCRA) is sufficiently empowered to ethically drive Africa from eternal supplier and exporter of raw materials to sovereign owner of full-industrial production cycle.

Confirming the effective establishment and enforcement of a Pan-African Universal Economic Constitution structurally and legally empowered to encounter the volatility of the continental value chains. Doing so, ensuring that the democratized industrial localization is adopted and enforced by all African communities as a sovereign right, and a constitutionally civic and generational duty.

Both the Constitution, the CVCRA and AFRIGUARANTOR shall, complementary co-operate as legally supreme & technically structuring frameworks, guaranteeing Africa's resources, wealth n industrial value chains are responsibly governed, retained under African stewardship, and strategically leveraged for mutual prosperity, providing a stable, transparent, competitive, secure and rewarding environment that fulfils the expectations of trusted investors and partners across all Africa's economic landscapes and sectors.

4.4.7. Sovereignty-Driven Global Engagement and Non-Alignment 4.0-Based Modern Cooperation

Ensuring both the UNCACED's Policies and Frameworks cooperate effectively with African Union and its frameworks, and that they are all quietly empowered to:

Ensure the importance, mandate and Africa's sovereign power in global Afrocentric policies are imperatively recognized, honestly considered and transparently enforced in the ways that abolish and confirm neo-colonial, extractive & pro-poverty agreements, concessions, debts, and partnerships are completely over and obsolete.

Ensure the new global Afrocentric economic and trade treaties are transparently, thoughtfully, effectively and equitably renegotiated based on respect for indigenous and Africa's inalienable rights to resource co-ownership, and that mutual interests-centered reinvestment policies – promoting peoples, planet, wealth, democratized neo-civilizational reindustrialization and humanist progresses are the most privileged.

Confirming the envisioned Non-Alignment 4.0 Cooperation operates appropriately, conscientiously and structurally as a collective intelligence, a global Pan Afrocentric economic bloc that partners without submission, whereby the GECCA Alliance co-inspires neo-civilizational economic transitions, sovereign multilateralism, multipolar equity, non-militarized diplomacy, neo-pioneering paradigms, and new global Pan-Afrocentric cooperation in which Africa moves from being an eternal powerless spectator to a modern architect of change, a prime leader for a free and egalitarian world, in which justice, humanism, mutual recognition and consideration, as well as collective innovation and shared prosperity are the backbone of the new 21st century global economic order.

Ensure African Global Economic Exodus (AGEE) operates properly as a strong engine spearheading the Pan-African Diaspora Investment Union (PADIU) to repatriate and bringing back African Global Capital to the continent.

4.4.8. Pan African Sovereign Financing Mechanisms

Ensuring the CEAGREARTH-S, SGEM⁴FA Fiscal Accord within SGEM⁴ECONOMICS (Sovereign Green-Energy-Mining-Monetary Economics), The Pan African Revenue Integration Agreement, PARIA – A Joint Progressive Taxation, Fiscal Regeneration, and Revenue Integration Agreement), CVCRA, AFRISIED BANK (African Continental Sovereign Investment & Economic Development Bank), PARB (Pan African Reserve Bank), AFRIGUARANTOR (Pan African Sovereign Guarantee and Credit Rating Agency), AFRIBONDS (Pan African Sovereign Bonding Mechanism issued between AFRISIED, PARB and AFRIGUARANTOR), as well as ACSA (African Continental Sovereign Investment Agency) are all sovereignly and vibrantly empowered to properly operate, fueling and bolstering the Continental Sovereign Transformation Fund (CSTF) and the Continental Sovereign Investment and Reinvestment Fund (CSIRF).

In terms of supplementary information to the above detailed resource, both the CSTF and the CSIRF will be funded through:

- Climate and carbon exchange mechanisms

- Afribonds Issuance Green industrial tax levies
- Strategic partnership dividends within GECCA Framework
- Including Other UNCACED Mechanisms and the income generated by the SIRF

4.4.9. Civic Transition, Sovereign Leadership and Pan African 5.0 Governance

The Sovereign Leadership Transition and Pan African 5.0 Governance is a boldly UNCACED's neo-pioneering vision for the 2080 Continental Renaissance—an Africa dully free from poverty, neocolonialism and economic marginalization

As Africa stands at a historical inflection point—a moment calling not for mere reform, but for a full-scale renaissance in civic responsible transition, leadership ethos and modern governance architectures.

The Sovereign Leadership Transition envisions the emergence of a new generation of ethical, visionary, and accountable leadership: leaders who will not only be rooted in the continent's ancestral wisdom but who are also fluent in the modern complexities of the global 21st century.

Towards a Pan African 5.0 Governance, UNCACED inaugurate a supreme revolution that ensures that African citizens are sovereign shareholders and prime stewards of their nations and wealth, not subjects to outdated systems. This revolution transforms public service into civic innovation, and transitions sociopolitical power into a duly sacred responsibility and welfare mission anchored in ethical and virtuous stewardship, and more nobly humanistic values.

The UNCACED Leadership Transition & Pan African 5.0 Governance is a forward facing model built on:

✚ Anti-Poverty and Anti-Proletariat Policies and Charters anchored in sovereign pan African intelligence, generational justice and global responsibility

✚ Pan African 5.0 Institutions designed to regulate, innovate, and ushering the continent into a golden age of resilience, prosperity and endless progresses

✚ The End of Post-Colonial Governance Systems, replaced by a systems & structures tailored to Africa's economic n demographic power, cultural plurality and technological leapfrogging

✚ Youth-Centered Civic Governance Frameworks—where the next generation of pan African citizens is shaped and prepared, not just in terms of supreme and existential matters anchored in Africa, but in humanist patriotism and planetary leadership

✚ The Breakthrough Emergence of a Sovereign Public Ownership Governance, Pan African Commonwealths Systems and Digital Universal Economic Policies

The SPOG-PACS-DUEP bring forth a neo-pioneering structure and smart continental framework for reclaiming, managing, and democratizing Africa's strategic wealth—in real time, with real data, for real people, revolutionizing a pan African socio-economic contract—imbedding justice, equity, and civic trust—and laying the structural foundation for a united, wealth holding, and prosperity-driven Africa, in which every citizen is a co-shareholder, every community is a co-investor, and the continent itself becomes a living commonwealth of wealth, value, and prosperity—guided by dignity, responsibility and future-facing governance.

From fragmented nations to a sovereign African economic union, the UNCACED's ultimate leap lies in shaping and governing Africa's wealth and resource as one, not as divided and estranged economies, but as united sovereign commonwealths of Africa, in which the SPOG-PACS-DUEP is not just a governance tool—but a paradigm shift from extraction to sovereign ownership, from marginalization to mutual dignity, from long structured dependency to full systemic empowerment, and from inherited inequalities to generational justice. In the face of the global economic realignment and technological transformation, this paradigm reflects a structurally triadic interconnected outlook, predicting that Africa's sovereign future demands a foundational shift toward a people-powered governance, a strong stewardship and resource-centered justice, and a sovereignly consequent digital revolution.

In the quest for Africa's unwavering transformation, the SPOG and the rise of PACS and DUEPs represent a foundational breakthrough toward true anti-poverty and anti-proletariat economic freedom, a homogenous development, a participatively cohesive prosperity, and a federally decentralized continental stewardship. Absolutely, the SPOG-PACS-DUEP breaks with the long legacy frameworks of estranged and foreign-controlled development, and introduces a democratized, citizen-driven, and sovereign-centric governance system, ensuring Africa's wealth remain African-owned, African-governed, and African-distributed—while welcoming and sustaining strategic investors, and ethical partners.

The Threefold Pillar of SPOG-PACS-DUEP Governance Policy

- The SPOG: A strategic pillar through which strategic national and regional assets (natural resources, infrastructure, public utilities, and industrial futures) are governed by transparent, multi-tiered mechanisms that give citizens, state institutions, and public trustees joint fiduciary power.
- The PACS: A structured system of economic hubs, in which the commonwealths are organized around natural resource beneficiation, cooperative emergence of localized industrial corridors, and value chains repatriation backed and reinvested by the sovereign mechanisms. Empowered through Citizen-Owned Commonwealths ruled by the States (as CICC's, NCIs, NPOEs, and IP³Hs) under the Pan African Commonwealth Law. Within the PACS, under UNCACED's Common Dividend Trusts, every African is inalienably acknowledged a co-shareholding right in national and regional development.
- Harmonized Economic Governance Charter: An Pan African Constitution that standardizes and streamline the resource governance, the beneficiation policies, the transparency frameworks, and the regional conflict settlement ecosystems

Prescriptions and Prohibitions to Future African Leaders

Africa must neither lease out, bargain away, nor mortgage its wealth, its economy, or its future. It must own, govern, digitalize, benefitate, distribute, and safeguard them sovereignly, transparently, inclusively, and responsibly. Therefore, Africa must never persecute, degrade, impoverish, ruin, subject, nor incite its people, children, and or its posterity to mistreatment. It is bound by the moral duty to protect them, defend them, care for them, and provide for their wellbeing, prosperity, and generational happiness. And because no nation can act justly violating the dignity of its own people, Africa must likewise never inflict harm upon any other nation or foreign people. Her integrity must be universal, her justice extended to all the human people of the earth. For these are the UNCACED's highest aspirations for Africa—and so it seeks righteous leaders who will fully and morally embody and uphold these values as sacredly as civically perfect and irreversible.

Leading differently, beyond poor politics calculations

The Paradigm and UNCACED Alternative for Civic Transition, Sovereign Leadership and Pan African 5.0 Governance doesn't merely envision to deeply addressing centric matters on who leads, but how we lead, why we lead, and for whom we lead—featuring a new generation of leaders capable to craft Africa's own continental and global future.

As we are already redefining leadership in a new era of transformational governance and modern patriotic civism steered beyond poverty and proletariat, Africa doesn't need imitators—it needs neo-pioneers, African young generations, born & predestined to take on its destiny and solving its most critical challenges of the time—while leading wisely, rebuilding differently, and shaping the continent's integrated future.

5. Monitoring and Evaluation Frameworks – Key Metrics & Transformation Index

Ensuring the GDP vs GCH Balance Index is ethically implemented in across African communities to monitor and deploying policies anchored in comprehensive wellbeing, economic progress and citizen-centered and happiness.

Ensuring the Cycle of Poverty Interruption Index (CPPI) is implemented across all 55 States to track systemic poverty roots, its progressive eradication and structural gaps.

Carrying out the Continental Proletariat Liberation Index (CPLI) Reports.

Accelerating a progressive implementation of the Continental Civic, Leadership and Governance Transition Index (CCLGTI)

Ensuring Annual, Triennial, Mid-decade and Decennial Summits are soundly hosted and inclusively held to evaluate & sharing Pan African Economic Freedom Progress (PAEFP).

The UNCACED's supreme blueprint stands for an Africa entirely and fully emancipated from poverty, structurally architected into a unified ecosystem of integrated sovereign commonwealths, where economic advancement transcends traditional GDP metrics to embrace a transformative measure of Gross Continental Happiness (GCH), and where a vibrantly empowered middle class thrives, generates, owns and sustains over sixty (60) percent of the continental GDP, emerging as the strategic cornerstone and a continental driving force, and establishing itself as the primary engine of inclusive prosperity, collective happiness, and long-term economic sovereignty rooted in shared values of humanism, peace, justice, mutual cohesion and progress.

6. Budget Estimates

To estimate the needed budget to completely invert proletarian policies and overturn the cycles and legacy of poverty across continental Africa by 2080, we must consider this as a strategic macro long-term investment scenario, not as a poor static figure. The actual envelope will depend on multiple dynamic factors: population dynamics, infrastructure gaps, economic reforms, cultural, scientific and technological revolution, industrial entrepreneurship, digital innovation and trade integration, education & health systems spending, challenges of transition from political inertia, civic lethargy and leadership impediments, as well as the shifts to sovereign wealth and value chain beneficiation—all aligned with civilizational, developmental, economic and neo-pan African governance transformations.

The total estimated budget ranges between USD35-44 Trillion, including macro-cost estimates by time horizon, challenges and key sectors. This budget, though large, aligns with the projected economic potential and resource endowment of Africa. Its successful achievement depends on the unified vision of the continent, the pan African dream of the world, governance innovation, digital sovereignty, and the mobilization of both internal wealth and responsible global investment.

This budget isn't only about ending poverty—it's about rebuilding a modern continent driven propelling, and prosperous infrastructure—achieving a civically responsible, culturally enlightened, structurally emancipator, scientifically sovereign, technologically pioneering, economically superpowerful, ecologically net zero & sustainable, societally provider, globally empowered and integrated, generationally accountable Africa, where proletariat conditions are completely overturned and permanently obsolete, and the Gross Continental Happiness becomes the most ingeniously applied indicator of success and progress in across the next pan African post-poverty era.

7. Going through Key Milestones towards 2080

UNCACED has to go through the following milestones to fulfil its engagement for an Africa completely free from poverty in Africa by 2080:

Structural setup, continental transitions, and policy, legal and constitutional reform

Mass education, community equity redistribution, and ownership shifts

Historical takeoff of a universal regional governance, and boom-up to homogenous pan African economies

Alternative multipolar cooperation and non-aligned global reintegration focused on vibrant humanism, sovereign equality, mutual prosperity, and progressive civilizations, with GECCA emerging and ranging under the Non-Alignment 4.0 Principles as Top best global Afrocentric economic bloc in a more multipolar world, and a more globally universal future

Infrastructure Revolution and Modernization

Capital prosperity realignment, community reinvestment progress and sustainable sovereign emergence

Democratized mass industrialization, proletariat inversion, continental digitalization, and full systemic turnaround
